DIGITAL MEGA SCREENS

When you create a visual for our roadside large screens, you have to take a few things into consideration. Realise that a LED-screen of approximate 100 square metres is very large, but most screens are visible at over 30 metres high. Which gives them an ideal viewing distance of 100 to 250 metres.

CHECK YOUR VISUAL FOR READABILITY

For a quick check to see if the text is readable, you can print your visual on A3-size paper and keep this at a distance of 10 metres. If all text is readable, the letters are big enough.

DO'S:

- A maximum of 6 to 8 words
- Characters with a minimal height of half a metre
- Use a clear picture that leaves no doubt at what you want to communicate
- Make sure your logo or company name is readable
- Use colour contrasts
- Use simple characters

DON'TS:

- Enlarge an existing (print)advertisement
- Want to give too much information
- Use a complex or busy picture
- Use a picture that distracts from your message
- Pale colours

ANIMATED VISUALS

It is possible to use a visual that is slightly animated within the 6 seconds of exposure time that is available. However stick to the rules mentioned in this document. Make sure to also make a still, so that we can use that, in case we might get complaints. This gives you the guarantee that your campaign can always continue.

WHAT IS POSSIBLE:

- The movement of a single object
- Words or lines that appear in the visual
- Something that changes colour or lights up
- Keep it subtle

WHAT YOU CANNOT DO:

- Use a full motion video
- Use a fragment of a television commercial
- Too much animation within the 6 seconds
- Use sound

When in doubt please always consult us.

CAMPAIGN CHECKER

Do you want to know how your artwork looks from within the car and if all your text is readable? Then please use the campaign checker on our website."
